Warnock School

The Warnock P. T. A. will hold its next regular meeting on Friday afternoon, February 10th, at 2 o'clock. Our parents and friends are invited to meet with us on this occasion, as we have some important matters to present to our association for its approval.

Our attendance and our enrollment are still on the increase. The fifth annual grade report reported the highest percent attendance for the past week, with a fraction over ninety percent. The third, fifth and eighth grades also reported an attendance of ninety percent. We hope more interest will develop in this contest for the honor of highest percent of attendance among the grades. Mention will be made of the grade reporting the highest percent attendance in each week's school news.

Our boys' and girls' basketball teams played a double-header game last week on Friday afternoon, at Leeshed on Fifth street. The boys won, but the girls lost by a small score, having lost a number of players since Christmas. The boys also won over West Side this week, to complete their list of thirteen consecutive games this season.

There have been about seventy-five home gardens reported as having been started in our community by the school children, and many more will very likely be begun in the near future. The co-operation of our patrons is urged in promoting this work.

Ogeechee School

The Ogeechee and West Side basketball teams met on the Ogeechee court last Friday. Both the boys' and girls' games were won by Ogeechee.

Games have been scheduled with Middle Ground, Statesboro, Register and West Side for the next two weeks.

The P. T. A. are planning a Founders' Day program combined with a dad's day program for their next meeting on the 12th of this month. All the "pals" are invited to attend the program on that afternoon.

A Georgia program is being planned by one of the history classes to be presented in chapel at an early date in observance of the Bicentennial.

The faculty attended the council meeting held at Statesboro last Saturday.

President-elect Roosevelt, expressed himself as pleased with the Lane Duck amendment which cuts off a couple of months at the end of his term. Maybe he figures the job will be getting a little wearisome about that time.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DANCE CLASS

The undersigned has been asked to form a dance class in the city. If a sufficient number of pupils can be secured to warrant a class, a convenient place will be found and classes started. Mr. Jack Sellers, formerly a director of local talent shows, and studying under Solomon, the master of Atlanta, invites you to see him at 34 North Main street, in care Statesboro Trust Co. He may be reached by letter or by telephone.

First and foremost, I want to say to you that Statesboro is my home town. I have lived there for forty years and expect to be buried there when I die.

With reference to the vacancy in the carrier service at Statesboro, I cannot understand why the city service commission should have called for an examination several months ago, and why eighty-four of the residents of my home county should have been permitted to subject themselves to being examined with respect to their qualifications to perform this duty for the post office department, if there was never any intention on the part of the post office department to employ anyone.

PARKER LAMBASTS RECENT ECONOMY

TELLS POSTOFFICE HEAD IT IS INCONSIDERATE TO CAUSE PEOPLE TO LOSE TIME.

On a recent date eighty-four people living in and near Statesboro, all residents of Bulloch county, assembled under invitation of the postoffice department to stand examination for a job which was advertised to be open. This job was that of rural letter carrier from Statesboro, the salary of which is sufficient to entice these ambitious individuals from every walk of life. Some were merchants, some were bankers, some were teachers, some were farmers, some were unemployed—males and females. Every one who stood the examination hoped to receive the appointment, and everyone had a right to at least expect an opportunity.

But those eighty-four persons had no insight into the machinations of the mind of the postoffice official in Washington who had directed the examination—they had no way of knowing that the position was not open for the placement of a single one of the eighty-four. It transpires, however, that the examination was a mere gesture on the part of the postoffice department, intended, apparently, to build up a false hope. For immediately following the examination announcement is made that the place is to be filled by the transfer of a carrier from another congressional district.

In the meantime, these eighty-four applicants, individually or through friends, have been bombarding their gressman, Homer C. Parker, in behalf of their ambition to carry letters. Imagine, then, the sensations in the congressman's mind when he is told that his constituents are to be disappointed in the matter of the position, and that another congressman's friend is to be sent to Statesboro to serve Congressional Parker's constituents. Naturally and properly Congressman Parker was peeved. He said so in plain words. Information of his state of mind reached the postoffice official who had the matter in hand, whereupon that official wrote the congressman a rather scathing letter. At the conclusion that official re-affirmed his plan to send a carrier from another district.

And that leads up to Congressman Parker's return to the postoffice official which follows:

Washington, D. C., February 1, 1933.

Hon. Arch Coleman,
First Assistant Postmaster General,
Post Office Department,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. Coleman:
Your letter of January 31st with reference to the filling of the vacancy in the rural letter carrier service at Statesboro, Georgia, has been received.

First and foremost, I want to say to you that Statesboro is my home town. I have lived there for forty years and expect to be buried there when I die.

With reference to the vacancy in the carrier service at Statesboro, I cannot understand why the city service commission should have called for an examination several months ago, and why eighty-four of the residents of my home county should have been permitted to subject themselves to being examined with respect to their qualifications to perform this duty for the post office department, if there was never any intention on the part of the post office department to employ anyone.

Barnes Improves In Savannah Hospital

E. L. Barnes, Statesboro undertaker who was badly hurt in an automobile wreck near Savannah Tuesday evening, is reported slightly improved at the Candler Hospital, where he was carried for treatment.

Mr. Barnes had been in Savannah on business Tuesday and was returning home after night. At a point near the eight-mile curve in an attempt to avoid a hog which ran across the road, he ran his car against a post and was badly hurt. Three ribs were found to be fractured upon examination at the hospital. He will remain in Savannah till Sunday.

CONFERR ON BRIDGE AT BURTONS FERRY

WAR DEPARTMENT STARTS TOWARD DEVELOPMENT OF NEW ROUTE THROUGH BULLOCH.

The announcement from the War Department in Washington that steps are being taken toward the possible early construction of a bridge across the Savannah river at Burton's Ferry, comes as a matter of interest to the people of this entire section. A meeting is called to be held in Savannah on next Wednesday, February 15th, at which meeting interested citizens are invited.

The Burton's Ferry route leads from Columbia, S. C., southwest to Jacksonville, Fla., and is understood to shorten the distance between these two points by approximately 50 miles less than any existing route. Crossing the Savannah river north of Sylvania, the route touches Statesboro and Claxton, thence to Jessup and into Florida by way of Folkston.

The announcement from the War Department calling for the meeting next week in Savannah is as follows: Savannah, Ga., January 30, 1933. Application of the South Carolina State Highway Department, of Columbia, S. C., for the construction of a bridge across the Savannah river, 13 1/2 miles north of Statesboro, in the vicinity of Burton's Ferry, to be considered at a public hearing on his floor. Those seated eyeballs on the lawyer's face merely indicate his surprise that any woman would have married a man who chewed such volumes of tobacco. That line screen on the edge of the typewriter is not a spider web, but is the lawyer's silk handkerchief which he'll have in his pocket next Sunday when you see him singing in the choir.
